Preamble

Agreement on the CAO for Theatre and Dance

On 13 November 2019, the CAO parties Kunstenbond and NAPK reached a negotiated agreement on the CAO for Theatre and Dance 2020-2021. The CAO has a duration of two years, and runs from 1 January 2020 to 31 December 2021. In this CAO, the CAO parties have agreed to a new set of terms of employment, in line with several aspects of fair practice, see <https://fairpracticecode.nl/nl>.

Following the introduction of a new salary and job matrix in the previous CAO period, the updates to this CAO – besides salary development and an increased allowance for self-employment rates – concern mainly the fringe benefits. For example, there are allowances for night work and for performing as an extra. In addition, existing allowances, such as the traineeship fee, are increased. There are also changes with regard to long-term employability. These concern, for example, an expansion of the generation scheme (also known as the 80-90-100 scheme) and a relaxation of the working hours and rest periods for dancers. The latter concerns the following aspects:

- the annual working hours for dancers can be increased to a maximum of 1800 hours instead of 1920 hours.
- for dress rehearsals, the rest periods for dancers can be reduced no more than twice per season to a minimum of 10 hours instead of a minimum of 8 hours.
- there can no longer be any deviation from the weekly rest period for dancers of 36 consecutive hours.
- with regard to the daily rest period for dancers, it has been determined that it will be more than 11 hours, as a rule. Dance companies are obliged to set out the agreements about this in written regulations. With regard to this matter, the social partners call on the dance companies to guarantee the dancers a minimum rest period of 12 hours, insofar as possible, and to restrict the number of deviations from this to a minimum.

One discussion point at the CAO table concerned the desirability of an employee satisfaction survey (MTO). The social partners are of the opinion that such a survey could provide useful information about employees' evaluation of their terms of employment and working conditions. They therefore advise the individual employers covered by this CAO to set up an MTO (held periodically) that corresponds to the nature of their organisation, in consultation with their employee participation body.

In mid-2018, the NAPK, along with the television and film sector, set up the disclosure office Mores.online. Everyone working in the sectors involved who have to deal with undesirable behaviour can go to this site for initial support and advice. This CAO includes a provision about the policy and measures that must be set out by each company in order to prevent undesirable behaviour as far as possible.

Besides its commitment to combatting undesirable behaviour, the theatre and dance sector endorses the Culture Governance Code, the Diversity & Inclusion Code and the Fair Practice Code, and acts in accordance with them.

Formal agreements

1. Omscholing Dansers Nederland (ODN)

This CAO has agreed an increase in the employers' premium for ODN, from 8.9% to a total of 11.9%, commencing on 1.1.2021. This has been agreed in the expectation that the subsidisers involved will provide the companies with financial compensation for this on the basis of a rearrangement of the available resources from the Ministry of Education, Culture and Science and the Performing Arts Fund NL (FPK). The social partners will draw up further implementation agreements about financing and premium developments in a covenant. They are also planning to submit a request to the Ministry of Social Affairs and Employment for a declaration of generally binding force for ODN.

2. Performing Arts Social Fund (SFPK)

The social partners are meeting with the board of the SFPK and with the social partners of the CAO for Dutch Orchestras about the goals and corresponding premium payments to the SFPK. Conditional on the improvements to be made by the SFPK in the areas of implementation and management (efficiency and effectiveness), the social partners are prepared to alter the premium, to a maximum total of 0.8%. This is based on the fact that dancers remain excluded from paying premiums towards and using the career scheme of the SFPK, as they can make use of the Omscholing Dansers Nederland (ODN) scheme. The intention is to set out the agreements about the SFPK in a separate CAO that concerns that fund alone. As soon as that CAO has been drawn up, the agreement about the SFPK in this CAO will lapse.

3. Expansion of reference jobs

Over the duration of this CAO, the social partners will have result-based descriptions made of the jobs of extra/volunteer and singer/chorus singer, in accordance with the system in this CAO. If this leads to a result that is clear and acceptable to both parties, then the jobs can be added to the reference jobs listed in the CAO.

4. Moving towards a single CAO for the performing arts

Over the duration of this CAO, the social partners will meet with the Werkgeversvereniging Nederlandse Podia (WNP), the Vereniging van Nederlandse Poppodia en -festivals (VNPF) and Dutch National Opera and Ballet (DNO&B), about the possibilities of creating a single CAO for the performing arts in the long term.

Chapter 1 General

night shift	A shift in which more than one hour of work is carried out between 00.00 and 06.00.
music	The art of combining vocal and/or instrumental sounds within a certain time frame, with the aim of conveying emotions, moods (secular or religious), ideas or abstract sounds.
musical	A music and drama drama work with singing, dance and spoken dialogue, usually accompanied by an orchestra or music ensemble. Also an abbreviation of 'musical comedy': a comedy with numbers for orchestra, chorus and soloist singers, and dances and sketches, in a clear storyline.
night shift	A shift in which at least one hour of work is carried out for the employer between 01.00 and 07.00. The period of work does not include travelling time.
opera	A music and drama theatre work, in which all the words are sung and the acting is done through singing, usually accompanied by music played by an orchestra or music ensemble.
operetta	A music and drama theatre work that is usually light-hearted, with singing, spoken dialogue and often divertissements in the form of dance scenes, usually accompanied by music played by an orchestra or music ensemble. Forerunner of the musical.
other personnel	Personnel with a generally regular pattern of work on working days from Monday to Friday, which is covered by the standard provisions of the Working Hours Act (ATW). This includes the secretarial and administrative office staff.
partner	The person to whom the employee is married or with whom a registered partnership has been entered into, or else the person with whom the employee has had a joint household for at least six months according to a notarial cohabitation contract, or for at least five years according to another proof of cohabitation acceptable to the employer.
performance-related personnel	Personnel directly involved in the performance, to whom the Working Hours Decree (ATB) applies in addition to the Working Hours Act (ATW). This includes technicians, rehearsal directors, directors, ballet masters, production and tour managers, stage managers, dressers, and hair and make-up artists.
performing artists	Performing artists aged 18 and up (dancers, actors, musicians and singers, etc.) who are excluded from the Working Hours Act (ATW).
puppetry	A theatre form in which performers are disguised as a puppet or in which characters are suggested through puppets manipulated by hand. Different sorts of puppets are used for this, such as hand puppets and wajang puppets, as well as marionettes that are manipulated by strings from above or by rods from below.
rest period	The hours that are not working hours and which do not coincide with a free day.
salary	The gross monthly wage, subject to the salary scheme in this CAO, agreed on between employer and employee, excluding the allowances mentioned in this CAO and excluding the holiday bonus and other allowances and bonuses.
season	The period from 1 August to 31 July of the following year, or a period set by individual employers of twelve months from the end of the summer holiday of one year to the end of the summer holiday of the following year.
shift	An unbroken period in which work is carried out and which comes between two consecutive unbroken rest periods of at least 8 hours (ATW). A shift lasts for at least 4 hours, except when the shift concerns only the travel time to a performance venue where the work begins the following day.
social commission	Equal representation committee whose members are nominated by the social partners and whose task is to judge on the interpretation of CAO provisions, to advise on disputes and to decide on exemption requests.

trainee	Student who is in temporary employment with the employer on the basis of their school programme, under the supervision of that school and of the employer.
WAZO	Work and Care Act
week/working week	And unbroken period of 7 x 24 hours in which work is carried out in accordance with the shift timetable that has been set.
working day	A day on which work is carried out in accordance with the scheduled shift (see definition of shift).
working hours	The hours in which work is carried out for the employer (ATW).
working week	The length of the working week is based on 40 hours per week. The system of 12 atv days/96 atv hours per calendar year/season means that employees work an average of 38 hours a week.
zzp'er	Self-employed person without personnel (zzp'er), who carries out activities on the basis of a commission contract.

Article 2 Scope and character of the CAO

1. This CAO is applicable to the contracts of employment between employers and employees as referred to in Article 1. The provisions in the CAO are based on a full-time contract of employment. This means that in the case of a part-time contract of employment, the CAO provisions must be applied pro rata, unless stipulated otherwise.
2. This CAO is a minimum CAO. The individual employer is free to make agreements that deviate from the CAO to the benefit of the (individual) employee.
3. This CAO does not alter rights conferred individually insofar as they exceed the rights laid down in this CAO and insofar as they were recorded in writing in the individual contract of employment before the date of commencement of this CAO.
4. Appendices I to 9 are part of this CAO.

Article 3 Publication

1. The employer informs the employee of the contents of the CAO by sending the employee the complete digital CAO and appendices, or by sending a link to them.
2. During a job application procedure, the employer informs the selected final candidates of the contents of the CAO by sending the employee the complete digital CAO and appendices, or by sending a link to them.
3. An English translation of this CAO is available, a digital version of which can be consulted. Only the Dutch-language version will be legally binding.

Article 4 Interim changes

1. If drastic changes take place in the general socio-economic relations in the Netherlands or in the social insurance system, parties are entitled to propose and agree changes to the provisions of this CAO, including the salary regulations and pension scheme, also within the duration of this CAO.
2. If no agreement is reached on the changes referred to in section 1 within two months after they have been presented to the other CAO party by registered post, the party that has made the proposal is entitled to terminate this CAO at one month's notice by means of a registered letter to the other party.

Article 5 Duration and expiry of the CAO

1. This CAO comes into force on 1 January 2020 and is valid until 31 December 2021.
2. If neither party has stated in writing at least three months before the expiry date of this agreement that it wishes to terminate the present agreement, it will be assumed to be extended for another year.

3. Termination by one of the parties must be carried out by registered post addressed to the other party.

Chapter 2 Employment

Article 6 The contract of employment

1. The contract of employment is concluded in writing in duplicate (in Dutch) and signed by the employer and the employee. Any translation into English or another language will not be legally binding.
2. If the contract of employment is initially concluded by verbal agreement, the employer will confirm this in writing within two weeks. This written confirmation will include at least the nature of the work, the salary, the period in which the work is to be carried out and the minimum number of hours to be worked or fte. Before commencing employment, the employer will offer the employee a written contract of employment, which will include at least the following points:
 - a. employer's name, address and registered office;
 - b. employee's personal details and address;
 - c. employee's job title and/or nature of the activities;
 - d. place(s) where the activities are carried out;
 - e. date of commencement of employment;
 - f. nature (limited or unlimited period), duration and notice period of the contract of employment;
 - g. trial period, if agreed;
 - h. scope of the employment, expressed as a part-time percentage or fte;
 - i. number of days' holiday and atv days;
 - j. amount of salary (gross monthly wage) and deductions, salary scale and date of payment;
 - k. 8% holiday bonus and date of payment;
 - l. working hours per day/shift or week;
 - m. participation in the PFZW pension scheme;
 - n. provision about use of personal details in accordance with the GPDR;
 - o. a provision about manners, with a reference to the organisational policy in this regard;
 - p. a declaration that the employee has taken cognizance of the content of the relevant CAO(s) and any company regulations and is in agreement with them.

Article 7 Trial period

1. An agreement about a trial period must always be included in writing in the employee's individual contract of employment, otherwise the agreement will not be valid.
2. In a contract of employment for a period of less than six months, no trial period can be agreed.
3. In a contract of employment for a definite period of six months or longer, or one for an indefinite period, a trial period of a maximum of two months can be agreed.

Article 8 Contracts of employment for a definite period

1. The artistic (supporting) jobs of actor, dancer, ballet master, rehearsal director, stage director, scenographer, designer (lighting, sound, video), composer, musician/singer, choreographer, children's supervisor and dramaturge, as well as the production and performance-related jobs of production director, production assistant, theatre technician (assistant stage manager), surtitler/subtitled, prompter, extra, costume, wigs, make-up or scenery assistant, tour supervisor, education assistant and all assistants to the aforementioned jobs, are excluded from the statutory Chain Provision by Ministerial Order. A contract of employment for an indefinite period will apply to these jobs if more than 15 contracts of employment have been concluded between employer and employee and/or if several contracts of employment together exceed a period of 36 months. In order to break this chain of contracts of employment, there must be an interval of more than 3 months.

2. The statutory chain provision is applicable to all other jobs not stated in section 1 of this Article. This means that a contract of employment for an indefinite period will apply if more than 3 contracts of employment have been concluded between employer and employee and/or if several contracts of employment together exceed a period of 36 months. In order to break this chain of contracts of employment, there must be an interval of more than 6 months.

Article 9 On call contract

1. If possible, the employer will call up the employee at least four days beforehand. If necessary, this call-up term can be reduced to at least 24 hours beforehand. The employee is not obliged to comply with a call-up.
2. If a call-up is retracted less than 48 hours beforehand, the employee retains the right to 50% of the salary for the period for which they were called up. If a call-up is retracted less than 24 hours beforehand, the employee retains the right to 100% of the salary for the period for which they were called up.
3. When an on-call contract has lasted for a year, the employer must offer the employee a contract of employment for the average number of hours worked by the employee over the past year.
4. The minimum duration of a call-up is three hours.

Article 10 Medical examination prior to commencing employment

1. A pre-employment medical examination can only be part of the appointment procedure if there are specific medical requirements for a job, e.g. for the jobs of dancers and technicians. The examination is restricted to those specific job-related medical requirements.
The employer can oblige candidates for such jobs to cooperate on a job-related pre-employment medical examination. In that case, sections 2 to 6 of this Article are applicable.
 - a. The contract of employment is not considered to be binding until a declaration has been issued by a doctor, chosen by or on behalf of the employer, stating that, on the basis of a job-related examination prior to entering employment, the employee to be appointed is able to perform the activities in question.
 - b. This job-related examination will be held before the date fixed for entering employment. The result of the examination will be passed on to those concerned within 14 days of the determination of the result.
3. The employer bears the costs of the examination as specified in section 1, including the travel and accommodation expenses of the employee within the Netherlands. These expenses are remunerated in accordance with the travel and accommodation regulations included in this CAO.
4. The prospective employee can submit a request for a second job-related examination within 14 days of receipt of the result of the examination as specified in section 1. The employer is obliged to comply with this request. The employer bears the costs of the second examination. The doctor for this second examination is chosen by or on behalf of the employer in consultation with the employee, and will not be the same as the doctor who performed the first pre-employment examination. The result of this second examination is binding.
5. Contrary to the provisions of section 2 of this Article, the employer may conclude a contract of employment with the employee in special cases, even though the employee has not been medically approved.
6. The provisions of the preceding sections are not applicable to the employee who engages in a new contract of employment as the result of a merger or alteration in the private law status of the employer.

Article 11 Medical examination during employment

1. The employee is obliged to undergo a medical examination if the employer considers that the physical or mental condition of the employee hinders or may hinder him from performing his work properly. Those concerned will be informed of the result of this medical examination within 14 days of its determination.
2. Without prejudice to the provisions in section 1, those employees who perform heavy manual work in the performance of their duties will be examined periodically on the initiative of the employer to see whether there are any medical objections to the continuation of their activities. The employer determines which employees are subject to compulsory examination, on the understanding that it will apply at any rate to those employees who are employed as dancers or technicians. The frequency of the periodical examination will be determined per company.
3. The employer can also offer a preventive medical examination (PMO), in which the employee can participate voluntarily. The employer is not informed of the results of the PMO unless the employee wishes to discuss the results with the employer.

Article 12 Termination of employment

1. Employment is terminated:
 - a. during or at the expiry of the trial period at the request of the employer or the employee;
 - b. on the date agreed by the employer and employee by mutual agreement;
 - c. legally on the expiry date of a contract of employment for a definite period. NB: from 1 January 2015, the employer is obliged to announce this and confirm it in writing at least one month in advance;
 - d. by termination by the employer or the employee, subject to the provisions of sections 3 and 4 of this Article;
 - e. on the date on which the employee reaches the legal retirement (AOW) age;
 - f. on the death of the employee;
 - g. in the case of instant dismissal for urgent reasons affecting the employer or employee in accordance with the statutory provisions;
 - h. if dissolved in court at the request of employer or employee on the basis of the statutory provisions.
2. After a period in which the employee has been incapacitated for work for at least 24 months, the employer can apply for permission to dismiss him on the grounds of incapacity for work.
3. The manner and date of giving notice
 - a. Notice must be given in writing and with a statement of the reasons.
 - b. Notice of termination should be given in such a way that termination of employment coincides with the end of the calendar month.
 - c. Any additional relevant provisions in the individual contract of employment or in the company rules and regulations are applicable.
4. The term of notice
In the case of contracts for an indefinite period, contrary to Article 7:672 paragraphs 2 and 3 of the Civil Code, a period of notice of at least two months must be observed by both the employer and the employee.

Chapter 3 Salary

Article 13 Reference jobs and salary matrix

1. The job and salary matrix included in this CAO will be introduced by the employer as of 1 January 2017. The job and salary matrix – see the relevant appendices in this CAO – consists of the following parts:
 - Job grid with a limited number of reference jobs
 - Job descriptions of the reference jobs
 - List of common jobs
 - Job matrix with salary scales

Reference jobs are model jobs in which a particular job content and weighting is linked to a particular salary level. The reference jobs are not standard jobs. This means that they can/must be deviated from if the employer changes the content of the job and sets different requirements for it, whereby the job may become lighter or heavier than the reference job.

For jobs that deviate from the reference jobs, the employer will make a suitable description, on the basis of a comparison with the reference job(s). On this basis, the job can then be scaled higher or lower than the reference job(s). Jobs that correspond to a reference job precisely, with regard to weighting, content and result expectations, are scaled in accordance with the classification in the job matrix in the CAO. The employer provides suitable, result-focused job descriptions for all employees.

2. If an employee is of the opinion that their job is not (or no longer) described and/or classified correctly, he/she can object to this. The objection is dealt with in accordance with the applicable procedure within the organisation. If the internal procedure does not lead to agreement, the case can be presented to the Social Committee for Theatre and Dance, in compliance with the applicable procedure included as an appendix to this CAO.

Article 14 Application of job and salary matrix

1. Classification

The salary scales are divided into steps or salary increments. These increments are an indication of the development in a job, if it is performed well. As a guideline, one indicative salary increment corresponds to one year of experience and development in a job. In principle, one year of experience is counted if the employee can make a reasonable case for having worked in the same or similar job for at least eight months in the previous (calendar) year. The moment at which salary increments are awarded differs per company. As a consequence, employees switching employer cannot claim more than one salary increment per (calendar) year.

2. Awarding salary increments.

In the case of good performance, the employee is entitled to one salary increment per year, until the maximum of the scale has been reached. In the case of exceptional performance and/or in exceptional circumstances, the employer may award more than one salary increment to the employee. The increments are awarded on the basis of performance and/or appraisal interviews, which are recorded in writing. In the case of poor performance, where a prior warning and opportunity for improvement have been given, or in the case of insufficient opportunity to make an appraisal due to leave of absence or incapacity for work during six months or longer, the employer can decide not to award a salary increment. If there is no performance or appraisal policy, the employee will receive one salary increment per year until the maximum of the scale is reached.

3. Classification of combined jobs

If an employee combines different jobs that have different scales, the salary is composed of the sum of the part-time salaries of the jobs concerned. If a job on a higher scale is done for a limited number of hours on a temporary basis, another option is to temporarily increase the gross monthly salary by a suitable bonus, equivalent to two salary increments, for example.

4. Classification in a higher scale

If the job changes or is weighted more heavily and is thus classified in a higher scale, the employee will be placed in the next salary increment up in the new scale.

5. Salary for a daily contract.

In principle, the salary for a daily contract will be:

- 1/20 of the applicable monthly salary, if it concerns a working day consisting of a morning or afternoon of rehearsals;
- 1/10 of the applicable monthly salary, if it concerns a working day consisting of a morning and afternoon of rehearsals and/or a performance;

6. Remuneration for self-employed people (zzp'ers)

If a zzp'er works in a job covered by this CAO in connection with incidental and/or very short-term work and/or work for which special competencies are required, and where the work situation is almost the same as that of an employee, the job and salary matrix in this CAO will form the basis for remuneration. This means that the agreed rate or hourly rate will at least correspond to the salary level attached to the job, increased by at least 40%.

Article 15 Salary development

The following general structural salary increases will be given:

- 1.5% as of 1 January 2020
- 1.5% as of 1 July 2020
- 1.5% as of 1 January 2021
- 1.25% as of 1 July 2021.

Article 16 End-of-year bonus

1. Besides the regular salary, the employee is entitled to a bonus of € 400 gross per year, in the case of a full-time contract. In the case of part-time contracts and contract periods shorter than 12 months, a proportionate amount is applicable.
2. The bonus is paid in one instalment, along with the salary for the month of December over the previous twelve months or, if the contract of employment between employer and employee ends earlier in the year in question, along with the last salary payment.
3. The employee can opt to exchange his end-of-year bonus for three extra days of holiday (see also the chapter Days off, holidays and leave), to be taken in agreement with the employer.

Article 17 Holiday bonus

1. The employee is entitled to a holiday bonus for each calendar month or part of that month during which he is employed. This holiday bonus amounts to 8% of the salary earned per calendar month.
2. The holiday bonus is paid over a period of twelve months, calculated from the month of June of the previous calendar year.
3. The employer will pay the holiday bonus to the employee on 31 May of the calendar year concerned at the latest.

Article 18 Salary during incapacity for work

1. Besides the legal obligations in Article 7:629 of the Civil Code, the Regeling beleidsregels beoordelingskader poortwachter is also applicable to both employee and employer.
2. An employee who is incapacitated for work as a result of illness, pregnancy or childbirth, and to whom the exclusion and suspension clauses in Article 7:629 of the Civil Code are not applicable, is entitled to continued payment of wages in accordance with the following phasing:
 - 100% in weeks 1-26
 - 90% in weeks 27-52
 - 80% in weeks 53-78
 - 70% in weeks 79-104
3. In addition to the provisions of sections 1 and 2 of this Article, an employee who is incapacitated for work as a result of illness, pregnancy or childbirth and who meets one of the conditions below is entitled to 100% continued payment of wages for a maximum of 104 weeks - calculated from the first day of illness. This concerns an employee who:
 - is fully and permanently incapacitated for work and is entitled to IVA benefit; or

- is working in his own job or in another suitable job, for at least 40% of the contract of employment as part of a reintegration process, whether or not on an occupational therapy basis; or
 - is training or retraining, or has started in a suitable job with his own or another employer as part of a reintegration process.
4. If, in connection with his partial incapacity for work, an employee is carrying out another job, whether or not for the same employer, on the grounds of which he earns income from work or activities, this income will be deducted from the continued payment of wages insofar as it exceeds the 100% level of income from the employer.
 5. The continued payment of wages referred to in sections 2 and 3 is discontinued when the contract of employment with the employer is terminated or when the employee reaches the legal retirement (AOW) age.

Article 19 Payment of salary in the event of death

1. On the death of the employee, besides the payment of salary up to and including the last day of the month in which the death occurred, a one-off benefit of two monthly salaries will be paid to the partner with whom the employee had a joint household. If this situation is not applicable, the payment may be made to the person/people whom the employer considers to be eligible in all fairness.
2. The death benefit referred to in section 1 of this Article is reduced by the amount paid to the surviving relatives in the case of the employee's death pursuant to a health or occupational disability insurance policy.

Chapter 4 Working hours and rest periods

4.1 General

The provisions in this chapter are applicable, insofar as relevant, to all personnel groups: performing artists, performance-related staff and other staff.

The employer ensures the best possible balance between working hours and rest periods, in accordance with the legally required working conditions policy and, where possible, taking account of the personal circumstances and wishes of employees. If these do not correspond to the interests of the organisation, the interests of the organisation will prevail.

Article 20 Announcement of the schedules

1. As far as possible, the schedule for the calendar year or season will be set before or at the start of the calendar year or season, following agreement with the employee participation body. Activities that cannot be planned in advance will be announced at least one week beforehand, with the exception of emergencies.
2. The employer will inform the employee about the activities (and any special circumstances) of a working week 12 days prior to that working week at the latest. Emergencies form an exception to this rule.
3. Performance dates are announced in writing four weeks beforehand. In the case of unforeseen circumstances, this rule may be deviated from in agreement with the employee participation body.
4. With regard to employees whose working hours amount to less than 60% of a full-time contract of employment, the employer is obliged to announce which (optional) days and times he requires the employee to work at least six weeks in advance. On this basis, the employee can enter into commitments regarding work for third parties.

Article 21 Breaks

1. If the working hours are longer than 5.5 hours, there will be one break of at least half an hour or two breaks of 15 minutes.

If the working hours are longer than 10 hours, there will be one break of at least 45 minutes or three breaks of 15 minutes.

2. The employee is entitled to a lunch break of at least half an hour if the working hours are longer than 5.5 hours, if they start before 12.00 and end after 14.00.
3. The employee is entitled to a dinner break if the working hours are longer than 5.5 hours, if they start before 16.00 and end after 19.30. The length of the dinner break is at least:
 - 1 hour in the case of activities in the company location, if dinner can be eaten on the working premises;
 - 1.5 hours in the case of activities in the company location, if dinner cannot be eaten on the working premises;
 - 1.5 hours in the case of activities outside the company location, if dinner can be eaten on the working premises;
 - 2 hours in the case of activities outside the company location, if dinner cannot be eaten on the working premises;
4. Breaks of half an hour or longer are not counted as working hours.
5. On agreement with the employee participation body, the employer can implement different break regulations. In that case, the breaks are counted as working hours.

Article 22 Availability per season

1. The employer can ask an employee to be available for 1720 hours per calendar year/season. All travelling times in the Netherlands and abroad are included in calculating the maximum availability per calendar year/season.

The standard number of working days per year is a maximum of 215. In agreement with the employee participation body, this can be extended to a maximum of 221, by splitting up a maximum of 6 of the 12 atv days into half atv days.

The hours of availability and the number of working days per year are calculated as follows:

Number of days per year	365
Holiday days by law	-20
Non-statutory holiday days	-7
Public holidays (average)	-7
Weekends or days off instead of weekends	-104 days
Maximum number of working days/hours without atv per calendar year/season	227/1816
Atv days/hours	-12/96
Maximum number of working days/hours after deduction of atv per calendar year/season	215/1720
Option in agreement with the employee participation body:
Atv split into at least 6 whole days	-6 days/48 hours and a maximum of 12 half days	-12 days/48 hours
Maximum number of working days/hours, after subtracting 6 whole and 12 half atv days	221/1720

2. In the case of activities that cannot be planned beforehand (e.g. repeat performances), the working hours can be extended by a maximum of 200 hours to a maximum of 1920 hours per year. For dancers, the working hours can be extended by 80 hours to a maximum of 1800 hours per year, in agreement with the individual employee.

The employer and employee agree to compensate these overtime hours in time or in money, based on the hourly wage in accordance with the factor monthly salary/165. Except for emergencies, the employee is not obliged to work overtime.

Article 23 Activities during unscheduled hours

The employer can request the employee to carry out activities outside the scheduled hours. The employee is not obliged to do so, unless agreed in the individual written contract of employment and except for emergencies. Working hours outside the scheduled hours will be compensated in time as soon as possible, or else saved up by mutual agreement between employer and employee and allocated at a later date.

Article 24 Activities abroad

1. The employer will announce the tours to be made in good time. If tours last longer than 15 days, the employer will give all the relevant information to the employee participation body well in advance.
2. Only in consultation with the employee participation body can the employer make alternative agreements about the allocation of days off, rest periods, breaks and atv days, in connection with a foreign tour. These agreements may not be materially worse on average than the regulations in this CAO.

4.2 Working hours and rest periods for performing artists

General

The provisions in this section apply to performing artists aged 18 and up (dancers, actors, musicians and singers, etc.), who are excluded from the working hours and rest periods provisions of the Working Hours Act (ATW). The principle is that performance time counts as working hours and that no classes or rehearsals will be planned on Sundays in principle.

Article 25 Rest periods

1. Daily rest periods
 - a. Employees are entitled to an unbroken rest period of at least 11 hours in each continuous period of 24 hours. This rest period is calculated from the end of a shift, or else - if it occurs outside the company location - from the time of arrival back at the company location. For dancers, this unbroken rest period will be more than 11 hours as a rule, in accordance with the agreements set out for this in the company regulations.
 - b. In the case of a dress rehearsal, the rest period may be shortened to no less than 8 hours, with the agreement of the employee participation body and no more than twice per season. Contrary to this rule, for dancers the rest period may be reduced, no more than twice per season, to at least 10 hours, with the agreement of the employee participation body.
 - c. Between the end of the afternoon activities and the start of the evening activities, dancers are entitled to a rest period of at least 2 hours.
2. Weekly rest periods

Employees are entitled to an unbroken weekly rest period of at least 36 hours in each continuous period of 7 x 24 hours.

Contrary to this rule, an unbroken rest period of at least 60 hours in each continuous period of 12 x 24 hours can be implemented, with the agreement of the employee participation body. This deviation from the rule does not apply to dancers.

Article 26 Performance-free weeks for actors

An actor who plays main roles in two consecutive productions is entitled to a period of at least two performance-free weeks between the last performance of one production and the dress rehearsal of the next production.

4.3 Working hours and rest periods for performance-related personnel

General

The provisions in this section are based on both the Working Hours Decree (ATB, section on performing arts) and the Working Hours Act (ATW). The performance-related personnel includes, as a rule, technicians/stage managers, rehearsal directors, directors, stage director's assistants, ballet masters, prompters, production directors and assistants, education staff, tour supervisors, costume, wigs, make-up and scenery assistants.

Article 27 Working hours and rest periods in the Netherlands

General

In the case of activities outside the company location in the Netherlands, the shift begins at the start of the activities in the performance venue and ends at the time of arrival back at the company location, or else - if not returning to the company location - at the overnight accommodation.

The rest periods are allocated in such a way as to ensure that there is always a period of at least 8 hours between the time of arrival back at the company location or the overnight accommodation and the time of departure from the company location or the accommodation the following day.

1. Daily working hours and rest periods

- a. The employer will organise the work in such a way that the employee:
 - does no more than 12 hours' work per shift, followed by an unbroken rest period of at least 11 hours, whereby the rest period may be reduced to no less than 8 hours no more than 10 times per year and 4 times per period of 4 consecutive weeks, or
 - with the agreement of the employee participation body, does no more than 14 hours' work per shift, providing that this shift is followed by an unbroken rest period of at least 24 hours. This may be applied no more than 26 times per period of 52 consecutive weeks, or
 - with the agreement of the employee participation body, has an unbroken rest period of at least 11 hours in a period of 24 consecutive hours, whereby the rest period may be reduced to no less than 8 hours no more than 117 times per period of 52 consecutive weeks. In that case, the shift may comprise no more than 16 hours, including breaks and travelling time. If this is followed by a day or night shift of no more than 12 hours, this shift will be followed by an unbroken rest period of at least 24 hours.
- b. The employer will also organise the work in such a way that the employee does no more than 12 hours' work per day or night shift that ends after 02.00, followed by an unbroken rest period of at least 14 hours. Once per unbroken period of 7 x 24 hours, this rest period may be reduced to no less than 8 hours no more than 10 times per year.

2. Weekly working hours and rest periods

- a. In each unbroken period of 7 x 24 hours, the employee will do no more than 65 hours of work. During the two weeks prior to a premiere, the employee will do no more than 72 hours of work per week.
- b. In each unbroken period of 4 weeks, the employee will do no more than 50 hours of work per week on average. In each unbroken period of 13 weeks, the employee will do no more than 45 hours of work per week and in each unbroken period of 52 weeks, an average of 38 hours of work per week.
- c. In each unbroken period of 7 x 24 hours, the employee is entitled to an unbroken rest period of at least 36 hours. In deviation from this rule, with the agreement of the employee participation body, an unbroken rest period of at least 60 hours in each unbroken period of 12 x 24 hours may be applied instead.

3. Working hours and rest periods abroad

- a. In the case of performances abroad, the working hours included in this CAO will be observed, unless critical unforeseen circumstances necessitate deviating from them. The employee participation body will be notified of this necessity.
- b. In the case of activities at performance venues abroad, the travelling time to and from the performance venue counts as working hours.
- c. In the case of flights where there is a difference in time zone of more than four hours, a rest period of at least 24 hours is scheduled after arrival, in order to acclimatise, before commencing the activities. If necessary, this rule may be deviated from, in agreement with the employee participation body.

4. Working hours in the case of overnight stays

- a. In the case of an overnight stay following activities outside the company location, the working hours end on arrival in the overnight accommodation and start the next day on leaving the overnight accommodation. If the employee decides to arrive at the overnight accommodation later than strictly necessary, the time at which he could have arrived is counted as the ending time of the working hours.

- b. If several performances take place in series at the performance venue where the overnight accommodation is located, a fixed 8-hour period of working hours is calculated, or the actual number of hours if that is more than 8, for the second and subsequent day(s).

4.4 Working hours and rest periods for other personnel

General

Other personnel includes all employees who are not in the groups of performing artists and/or performance-related artists, and who usually have a regular pattern of work from Monday to Friday. These employees are covered by the standard provisions of the ATW. Employers from each organisation make further agreements with their employees within the limits of this Act.

Chapter 5 Days off and holiday leave

General

In the case of a full contract of employment, employees are entitled every year to at least 104 weekend days or compensation of those days, 27 holiday days, 12 atv days and a maximum of 7 public holiday days, insofar as they fall on a working day. (See the Article Public holidays).

Article 28 Days off

1. For each unbroken period of 13 weeks, a minimum of 18 days off are scheduled, of which at least 5 x 2 days are allocated consecutively.
2. Employees are entitled to at least 13 free Sundays per year (period of 52 weeks).
3. Employees are entitled to at least 8 performance-free days per month, of which at least 6 are completely free (i.e. with no rehearsals).

Article 29 Public holidays

The following count as public holidays: 25 and 26 December, 1 January, Easter Sunday and Easter Monday, Whit Sunday and Whit Monday, Ascension Day, the King's Birthday and once every five years 5 May. Employees who have to work on a public holiday are compensated with a special free day on a date to be agreed.

Article 30 Holiday leave and atv days

1. In the case of full-time employment, the employee is entitled to 27 days of holiday leave and 12 atv days per year. In agreement with the employee participation body, a maximum of 6 of these 12 atv days can be allocated as half days. The employer gives the employee the opportunity to take the days of holiday leave and the atv days, in compliance with the other provisions in this Article. With regard to the lapsing of days of holiday leave, the statutory provisions are applicable, while atv days that are not taken will lapse at the end of the year for which they have been allocated.
2. In agreement with the employee participation body, the employer can set collective holiday periods, which are announced before 1 January of the year concerned. In the case of unforeseen circumstances, collective holiday periods may be communicated by 1 March of the year concerned at the latest. The employee gives notice in good time of when he is planning to take the other, non-collective agreed days of holiday leave. Employees on a contract of employment of at least one year are entitled to a continuous holiday of at least 3 weeks per year.
3. The employer and employee may agree to cancel the days of holiday leave and/or atv days that exceed the legal number. In that case, the employee will receive compensation for these days on the basis of his hourly wage.

4. With the agreement of the employee participation body, the employer can make an arrangement for all employees or for certain groups of employees for saving up atv days until a subsequent year or until the end of the contract of employment.
5. The employee can choose to exchange his end-of-year bonus (see the relevant Article in the chapter Salaries) for three extra days of holiday leave, to be taken in agreement with the employer.

Article 31 Accumulation of holiday leave during incapacity for work

Employees who are incapacitated for work accumulate holiday leave over the whole period of their incapacity for work. When to take the accumulated holiday leave is agreed by the employer and the employee, in compliance with the legal period of limitation.

Article 32 Special leave

1. Under the Work and Care Act (WAZO), the employee is entitled to short-term care leave of a maximum of twice the working hours per week. Contrary to the legal entitlement of continued payment of 70% of the salary, the employee is entitled to continued payment of 100% of the salary in the case of short-term care leave. With regard to allocation, and possible refusal of allocation in the case of conflict with urgent organisational interests, the legal provisions will apply.

With regard to all other forms of special leave covered by the WAZO, the legal provisions will apply. See <http://wetten.overheid.nl/BWBR0013008/>.

2. The employee is entitled to special leave with full pay in the following cases:
 - if the employee's partner/surrogate mother/co-parent gives birth: five days;
 - in the event of the death of the employee's partner/co-parent and/or children: from the day of decease up to and including the day after the funeral;
 - in the event of the death of the employee's (adoptive) parents, (adoptive) grandparents, brothers/sisters and parents-in-law: two days.
3. The employee is entitled to special leave with full pay, insofar as the activities of the company are not unduly disturbed by it, in the following cases:
 - on the day the employee takes out a marriage licence: one day;
 - for the wedding of the employee: two days;
 - if the employee moves house: one day;
 - if the employee who is a member of a trade union takes part in meetings, board meetings and consultations about terms of employment or cao matters.

Chapter 6 Allowances

Article 33 Professional expenses

Employees are entitled to reimbursement of expenses if expenses are incurred in carrying out the professions. In agreement with the employee participation body, the employer can choose from the following options:

- a. the employer provides material and resources necessary for carrying out the profession properly;
- b. employees are responsible for providing material and resources and can declare the expenses for them to the employer;
- c. the employer gives a fixed allowance for the specified expenses. This allowance lapses if the employee has not worked for more than six weeks.

Article 34 Allowances for activities outside the company location

1. If activities take place outside the company location, whether in the Netherlands or abroad, a contribution towards accommodation expenses is given, in accordance with the appendix Accommodation Expenses included in this CAO.

2. Travelling expenses are paid by the employer. The employer can specify the means of transportation. If the employee chooses not to make use of the specified means of transportation, he pays the travelling expenses himself. If the employee does not make use of the specified means of transportation by necessity, or with permission from the employer, his travelling expenses will be reimbursed on the basis of the specified means of transportation.
3. In all cases, the employee is required to be at the performance location at the time before curtain-up specified by the employer at the latest.

Article 35 Cooperation on publicity and audiovisual recordings

1. Cooperation on publicity
The employee will cooperate on publicity for the organisation and its productions for no extra fee. The term publicity is understood in the broadest sense of the word, within the limits of reasonableness.
2. Cooperation on audiovisual recordings
Employees who are employed by the employer as performing artists will cooperate, in compliance with the following provisions, on making audiovisual recordings of their artistic performances on all audiovisual media (digital and otherwise), including video, television, radio, film, CD, CD-ROM, DVD and internet.
3. Permission for use of the recordings
The employees referred to in the previous paragraph give the employer their permission:
 - a. for internal use of the recordings referred to in paragraph 2, e.g. for rehearsal, archive and documentation purposes; this also includes recordings solely intended for the personal appraisal of programmers and impresarios (of theatre, festivals and television);
 - b. for external (public) distribution and presentation of the recordings referred to in paragraph 2 via all distribution channels (digital and otherwise), including television, radio, film, CD, CD-ROM, DVD and internet.
4. Employees' right to information
Employees will be informed and heard by the employer in advance about concrete plans for the making of audiovisual recordings as referred to in paragraph 2. If the recording takes place, the employees will also be informed by the employer about the agreements regarding scheduling and financing. The contents of this information will not form grounds for employees to withhold their cooperation and/or permission, as referred to in paragraphs 2 and 3
5. Entitlement to fees and exceptions
 - a. The employer will pay employees cooperating on recordings for external distribution and presentation as referred to in paragraph 3b a reasonable fee on the basis of the Related Rights Act, barring the exceptions referred to in paragraph 4b.
 - b. The following situations form exceptions to the entitlement to fees:
 - distribution and presentation of recordings of part of an artistic production, with a maximum duration of three minutes, whereby this part does not form a whole in its own right;
 - distribution and presentation of recordings made during benefit events, where all the proceeds go to the intended goal or charity of the event;
 - distribution and presentation of recordings for purposes of publicity and/or education. Purposes of education are when the recording is used solely as teaching material in schools.
6. Fees
The fees below are determined in agreement with the employee participation body:
 - a. an advance payment
As an indication, the fee shall amount to no less than € 100 gross per employee.

and/or:

- b. a subsequent payment

This payment will only be made in cases that involve substantial net profits after deduction of the expenses incurred by the employer.

- c. payments other than those in 5a or 5b, e.g. in the form of a one-off lump sum.

Article 36 Reinforcement of the trade Union contribution

1. In view of the importance of well organised negotiations about terms of employment and to support the position of the trade union, the employer pays an annual sum of € 10.50 per FTE to the trade union party of this CAO.
2. Insofar as permissible by the tax authorities, the employer will reimburse the employee's contribution for union membership - on production of proof of membership - while simultaneously having the gross salary reduced by an equal amount.
3. Along with the employers – collectively or individually – the trade union provides information and communication about the trade union, in order to promote union membership among employees.

Article 37 Allowance for legal healthcare insurance excess

In accordance with the appendix included in this CAO, Regulations for Allowance for Healthcare Insurance Excess, employees may claim an allowance for the legal excess of their healthcare insurance.

Article 38 Compensation for commuting expenses

The employer makes a suitable arrangement for the organisation to compensate the employees' commuting expenses.

Article 39 Allowance for appearing as an extra

Employees not employed as a performing artist who appear on stage under direction and in a prescribed costume throughout the whole performance or large parts of it, will receive an allowance for appearing as an extra of € 25.00 gross per performance.

Article 40 Meal provision or allowance at the company location

In the case of an unbroken and event-related shift at the company location starting at 15.00 at the latest and lasting until at least 20.00, employees are entitled to a meal or to financial reimbursement of € 9.50. This allowance is paid on the basis of declaration, on the submission of receipts. The amount is indexed annually, based on the consumer price index, in accordance with the accommodation expenses regulations in this CAO. These regulations will also apply if the period of work lasts 9 hours or longer. These regulations do not change any agreements about this already in existence between employers and employees that are more favourable to the employee.

Chapter 7 Long-term employability

Article 41 Night shifts

1. For working a night shift, with the exception of travelling time, as defined in this CAO, a bonus of 50% applies for each hour worked. If employees are already entitled to a night shift bonus on the basis of their individual terms of employment or on the basis of another CAO, only the highest bonus will be paid.
2. Employees who are less than 7 years away from their legal retirement age (AOW) may request the employer for exemption from night shifts. The employer will grant this request as a rule. Only in incidental, unforeseen situations can the employer ask the employee to work a night shift.

Article 42 Generation scheme

1. Employees who are less than 7 years away from their legal retirement age (AOW), who have been in employment with the employer for at least 5 years and who wish to reduce their employability by no less than 50% of their original working hours, can opt to continue to accrue pension on the basis of their original working hours as set out in paragraphs 2 and 3 of this Article. This scheme applies on the condition of participation in the applicable pension fund.
2. The pension accrual remains based on the original working hours. The associated premium is paid by the employer and the employee in accordance with the ratio agreed in the CAO. If the employee reduces the working hours by at least 0.2 FTE, the salary belonging to the new working hours is increased by 0.1 FTE. If the employee reduces the working hours by less than 0.2 FTE, the new salary is increased by 0.05 FTE.
Examples:
 - from 1.0 FTE to 0.8 FTE means: 80% work, 90% salary, 100% pension accrual
 - from 0.8 FTE to 0.4 FTE means: 40% work, 50% salary, 80% pension accrual
 - from 0.8 FTE to 0.7 FTE means: 70% work, 75% salary, 80% pension accrual
3. The new working hours form the basis for all other terms of employment, such as the accumulation of holiday leave and the calculation of allowances. The reduction in an employee's working hours is given in whole or half days, in agreement between the employer and the employee. Employees with irregular working hours are not entitled to a fixed free day. These employees are given the extra free days spread out as evenly as possible over the roster period.

Article 43 Long-term unpaid leave

1. Employees who have a contract of employment for an indefinite period and who have been in employment with the employer for at least five years may request long-term unpaid leave, for the purpose of long-term employability. Such a request may be made a maximum of once every five years.
2. Long-term unpaid leave must be requested at least six months before the start of the season in which the unpaid leave starts with the employer, for a period of at least two months and a maximum of twelve months. When making the request, employees indicate the way in which the leave contributes to their long-term employability.
3. The employer will comply with the request, unless it conflicts with organisational interests. If that is the case, then a solution will be sought by possibly honouring the request for a different duration and/or in a different period.
4. Outstanding days of holiday leave must be taken first, as far as possible, after which the remaining period is filled with unpaid leave.
5. Employees are obliged to keep well informed of pension accrual, and partner and orphan pension, as well as other financial risks during the period of unpaid leave. If the pension scheme allows, employees can choose to continue accruing pension voluntarily during the period of unpaid leave, at their own cost.
6. At the end of the period of unpaid leave, employees are entitled to return to a position that is at least equivalent to their previous one.
7. During the period of unpaid leave, employees are prohibited from doing paid work for third parties, whether on a contract of employment or as a self-employed person, unless prior written agreements have been made about this with the employer.
8. In the case of illness during the period of unpaid leave, in principle this period will not be interrupted or terminated. If the illness continues after the end of the leave period, entitlement to continued payment of the salary will commence from the first working day after the leave period.

Chapter 8 Career management

Article 44 Career budget

1. Goal and target group

Promoting long-term career management and long-term employability is a responsibility of both the employer and the employee. The employer pursues a personnel policy that is geared towards different phases of life and long-term employability. The content of the policy is subject to the conditions below. These conditions are not applicable to employees employed as dancers, as this specific professional group comes under the scheme of Omscholing Dans Nederland. See the relevant article in this CAO.

2. Maintaining employability

- a. At least once a year, the employer and employee talk about the progress of the employee's internal and external employability.
- b. This talk is held partly in relation to agreements about the career budget (see below) and can be linked to the performance and/or appraisal interview.
- c. The agreements made in this talk are recorded in writing in an action plan.
- d. The employee is expected to have a cooperative and pro-active attitude to increasing his internal and external employability, and to fulfil the agreements made with regard to his employability.
- e. The employer holds consultation with an employee who is not/no longer functioning optimally about the possibilities of changing job or tasks and about any associated refresher courses, retraining and changes in hours and/or salary.
- f. In realising the agreements made, use can be made of the employee's career budget referred to below.

3. Accruing career budget

- a. The employee has a career budget of 24 hours per year in the case of full-time employment. Saving up career budget is maximised at 24 days (of 8 hours) in the case of full-time employment. After this, no more accrual takes place until hours that have already been saved have been taken. In the case of part-time employment, the accrual of career budget applies pro rata.
- b. The career budget is granted annually on an advance basis in hours (time). If the contract of employment is interrupted in the interim or if the employment time factor changes, there will be a recalculation. No limitation period applies to the hours of the career budget. On termination of employment, the hours that have not been taken will lapse, unless the termination is on the employer's initiative, except in the case of dismissal for urgent reasons.
- c. Employees who are partially incapacitated for work under the WAO/WIA and who carry out work for the employer for the part that they are able to work accrue career budget proportionate to the hours worked.

4. Aim of the career budget and how it is used

- a. The aim of the career budget is to promote the long-term employability of the employee. The following conditions apply to using the career budget:
 - the budget is used in the first place for leave for the purpose of training, refresher courses or retraining, or other activities that directly benefit the labour market position of the employee. For a contribution to financing, employees can submit a request to the career scheme of the SFPK, in compliance with the regulations and procedures of this scheme;
 - in second place, the budget can be used for other leave purposes, e.g. supplementary care leave or reduction in working hours (up to a maximum of 50%) directly prior to retirement.
- b. The career budget is used on the basis of agreement between the employee and the employer. Every year, the employer and employee talk about this and make concrete agreements about the use and future use of the budget. The agreements are recorded in writing.
- c. The employee must submit leave requests, in compliance with the aforementioned aims of use and following the agreements made with the employer, as soon as possible to the employer. If the employee wishes to take leave of one month or longer, he must request this leave in writing at least three months before the leave commences. The employer grants the request unless it conflicts with urgent organisational or shift interests.

Article 45 Refresher courses

1. The employee may be obliged to take refresher courses deemed necessary by the employer (and employee) for carrying out the employee's job.
2. The refresher courses are regarded as assigned activities that take place, in principle, during working hours and the costs of which are paid by the employer.
3. If an employee wishes to take a course of study or training course, it must be determined in agreement with the employer whether and how the costs are reimbursed and how the study leave is arranged. The appendix Regulations for study facilities, included in this CAO, will be observed in this regard.

Chapter 9 Social consequences of reorganisation

Article 46 Social plan regulations

1. General
These social plan regulations apply only to the consequences for personnel of situations resulting from subsidy cuts or withdrawal, such as closure, reorganisation, restructuring, partial closure or merger, whether or not coupled with changes in policy and activities in the employer's organisation.
In the case of closure, reorganisation, restructuring, partial closure or merger that is not a result of subsidy cuts or withdrawal, the employer will consult with the employees' organisation involved in this CAO, in order to discuss the social consequences of this organisational change. If so wished, parties may agree on a social plan.
2. The target group
These social plan regulations apply only to:
 - a. employees on a written contract of employment for an indefinite period with an employer as defined in this CAO, who have not yet reached the legal retirement age on the date of termination of employment.
 - b. employees with a broken or unbroken chain of written contracts of employment for a definite period, who have worked for an employer as defined in this CAO for longer than three years on the date of termination of employment and who have not yet reached the legal retirement age on the date of termination of employment.

Staff and employees to whom these social plan regulations are not applicable are:

- all employees excepted as an employee from the application of this CAO in Article 1 of this CAO;
- employees whose contract of employment is or will be terminated during the trial period or due to an urgent reason as referred to in Article 7:677 or 7:678 of the Civil Code, or because of otherwise poor performance;
- employees whose contract of employment is or will be terminated in connection with incapacity for work for a period of two years or longer;
- employees who have reached the legal retirement age on the intended final date of the contract of employment;
- employees whose contract of employment is or will be terminated due to a reason other than in connection with a situation resulting from subsidy cuts or withdrawal as referred to in section 1 of this Article.

3. Income support
Employees who are made redundant as the result of a situation as described in section 1 of this Article and who belong to the target group in section 2 of this Article are entitled to either the legal transition allowance from their employer or, if that is more favourable for the employee, to a supplement of 15% of their last-earned salary during the period of wage-related WW benefit to which the employee is entitled as of the dismissal date, with a maximum of three years.

4. Continuation of pension accrual

Employees receiving a WW supplement as referred to in the previous section of this Article can continue to accrue pension during the wage-related WW benefit on a voluntary basis, insofar as this is permitted under the pension scheme.

Continuation of pension accrual only takes place if the employee so wishes and is prepared to pay the employee's part of the premium that applied before the dismissal date. In that case, the employer will continue to pay the employer's part of the premium.

5. Employee's obligations

Employees threatened with dismissal as a result of a situation as referred to in section 1 of this Article and who meet the conditions of the target group referred to in section 2 of this Article are obliged to actively work on their reappointment within or outside their own organisation and to do everything possible to provide the employer with all necessary information and details (including documents needed for calculating financial supplements) in good time and in accordance with the truth.

Not cooperating actively on reappointment and/or giving incorrect or incomplete information, as well as improper use or misuse of the arrangements provided may result in exclusion from these social plan regulations and lead to reclamation of any sums already paid.

6. Financial contribution towards mobility or retraining

For each employee who is made redundant, the employer will defray the costs of support in finding a new job to a maximum of € 5,000 excluding VAT in the case of full-time employment, or the costs of retraining to a maximum of € 8,000 excluding VAT in the case of full-time employment.

Retraining is offered only if this is considered necessary by the employer. In the case of part-time employment, the maximum amounts stated in this section will apply pro rata.

If an employee does not make use of the support or retraining arrangements or terminates them prematurely, he will not be entitled to any substitute financial support.

Chapter 10 Other rights and obligations

Article 47 General obligations

1. General

The employer and employee are generally obliged to act as a good employer or employee is expected to act in similar circumstances. The employee is obliged to carry out the agreed activities to the best of his ability, and to follow the instructions provided to that end by or on behalf of the employer. The employer will enable the employee to carry out the agreed activities to the best of his ability, and provide instructions to that end if necessary.

2. Manners

Both employee and employer are expected to treat each other and everyone else with respect at work. Undesirable behaviour, including (sexual) intimidation, aggression, bullying and discrimination, is inadmissible. The employer is obliged to prevent undesirable behaviour at work as far as possible and to take proper measures in the case that such behaviour does occur in the organisation. In that case, employees may use the facilities provided by the employer and those of the disclosure office <https://mores.online/>

3. Incapacity for work

In the event of incapacity for work as the result of illness or accident, also during the holiday period, the employee will inform the employer of this immediately, in compliance with the company regulations and/or the standing rules of the organisation concerned. The employer and employee are also obliged, in accordance with the legal provisions, to promote reintegration as soon as possible.

4. Property

All items, including written documents and electronic and digital information and media made available to the employee for his activities for the organisation remain the property of the employer. The employee is obliged to hand back these items to the employer as soon as requested to do so, and otherwise on the day on which the contract of employment terminates at the latest.

The employee is responsible and liable for any damage to the employer's property caused by wilful act or through deliberate negligence.

5. Confidentiality

The employee and employer are obliged to confidentiality concerning all affairs, in the broadest sense of the word, of which they could reasonably have knowledge, or could presume that disseminating that knowledge, in any way whatsoever, might damage the other party. This obligation to confidentiality is applicable both during the contract of employment and after its termination. Violation of this Article by the employee can form an urgent reason for dismissal by the employer.

Article 48

Working for third parties

1. Work for third parties is understood to mean activities carried out by an employee during his term of employment with the employer for other parties than his own employer.
2. In the case of short-term activities equal to or less than one day, which do not interfere with the activities already planned for the employer, it is sufficient that the employee notifies the employer.
3. In the case of activities that take longer than one day, or which are spread over several days or periods, it is necessary to obtain prior permission from the employer. The employee requests permission from the employer as far in advance as possible and provides the employer with the necessary information about the activities.
4. The employer cooperates and gives permission for the employee to carry out activities for third parties, unless he makes a reasonable case for these activities not being compatible with the activities of the employer's organisation.
5. The employer decides as quickly as possible, but within seven days at least, on the employee's request. The employer can impose restrictions and/or attach conditions to his permission, such as not paying for hours that are not worked. If an employer has not responded to the request within seven days, he is presumed to have given permission.
6. The employer and employee can make (additional) agreements about working for third parties in the written individual contract of employment. It is not permitted to contractually completely exclude working for third parties, except when the employer can make a reasonable case for there being good reasons to do so.
7. Working for third parties without permission may lead to the employer imposing sanctions and at worst may form an urgent reason for the employer to terminate the contract of employment with immediate effect and/or to recover the damage incurred from the employee.
8. An employee who becomes incapacitated for work as a consequence of working for third parties without permission can therefore forfeit his entitlement to the non-statutory wage supplements referred to in this CAO.

Article 49

Outsourcing

1. If he agrees to the conditions under which it takes place, an employee can be temporarily outsourced to another employer. A written outsourcing contract is entered into that is signed by all parties concerned: the outsourcing employer, the insourcing employer and the employee.

2. During the period that the employee is working for the insourcing employer, the insourcing employer is responsible for proper working conditions, and working hours and rest periods.
3. The insourcing employer is liable for any damage resulting from the employee's actions, negligence or inadequate functioning in connection with carrying out the activities stated in the outsourcing contract, unless otherwise agreed.
4. The insourcing employer is responsible for the employee being properly insured for legal liability on account of the activities stated in the outsourcing contract.

Article 50 Legal liability

1. For his legal liability, the employer takes out suitable insurance for damage caused or incurred by the employee as a result of performing his job.
2. The employer is obliged to pay for damage incurred by the employee as a result of performing his job, unless it was caused by wilful act or deliberate negligence on the part of the employee.
3. If the employee can claim from third parties with regard to damages incurred by him, he loses his entitlement to compensation from the employer. If and insofar as the employee passes on his entitlement to compensation to the employer, the employer will pay an advance sum that is offset against what the employer receives from the third party/parties as compensation. In the latter case, the collection charges are paid by the employer.

Chapter 10 Additional provisions

Article 51 Pension scheme

1. A pension scheme is arranged through the obligation of Stichting Pensioenfonds Zorg en Welzijn (PFZW). The obligation is included in appendix A of the PFZW pension regulations.
2. Employers in the theatre and dance branch and the employees in employment as defined in the PFZW pension regulations come under the scope of the obligation. As a consequence, they are obliged to comply with the statutes and regulations, and any associated decisions, of PFZW. The pension documents can be found on www.pfzw.nl.
3. PFZW sets the annual premium for the compulsory pension scheme.
4. The affiliated employer pays the total premium to PFZW in good time and deducts the employees' contribution from the salary of employees who are deemed participants on the basis of the pension regulations.
The division of the total premium owed is as follows:
- by the employer: 60% of the total premium.
- by the employee/participant: 40% of the total premium.

Article 52 Stichting Omscholing Dansers Nederland (Dancers Retraining Scheme)

1. The employer has arranged a retraining scheme with Stichting Omscholing Dansers Nederland (ODN) for employees who are dancers.
2. All employees who are taken on as dancers are obliged to participate in this retraining scheme. The regulations of the retraining scheme can be found on www.omscholingdansers.nl.
3. The employer and the employee are bound by the articles of association and the regulations of Stichting Omscholing Dansers Nederland. Changes to the retraining scheme are automatically applicable to the employer and employee and will apply from the agreed date of the change. Obligatory participation in the retraining scheme ends in cases where the contract of employment is terminated.

4. The contribution to the scheme is paid jointly by employers and employees in accordance with the following premiums set by the CAO parties. The premiums are as follows:
Up to and including 31 December 2020:
- by the employer: 3% of the gross monthly salary, including holiday bonus.
- by the employee: 1% of the gross monthly salary, including holiday bonus.
From 1 January 2021:
- by the employer: 11.9% of the gross monthly salary, including holiday bonus.
- by the employee: 1% of the gross monthly salary, including holiday bonus.
5. The employer is obliged to pay the total premium to ODN, in accordance with the regulations set by ODN with regard to premium payment. Any adjustment to the retraining scheme premium is decided by the CAO parties.
6. From the legal transition allowance of a dancer whose contract of employment is terminated, the employer is permitted to deduct the amount of employer's premiums paid by the employer for the dancer concerned, calculated over the complete duration of the dancer's term of employment. In the case of a full-time contract of employment, 24 times the dancer's gross hourly salary per year worked must be deducted from this amount of employer's premiums. In the case of a part-time contract of employment, this deduction is made pro rata. This deduction is related to the entitlement to a career budget of 24 hours per year, as set out in this CAO.

Article 53

Sociaal Fonds Podiumkunsten (Performing Arts Social Fund)

The provisions in this Article will remain in force until a new, separate CAO has been agreed that concerns only the SFPK. As soon as this SFPK CAO, which may involve a premium increase of a maximum of 0.8%, has been drawn up, the Article about SFPK in this CAO will be altered.

1. Sociaal Fonds schemes

Employers and employees are obliged to participate in, and are eligible for the provisions of the Sociaal Fonds Podiumkunsten.

The contribution to the scheme is paid jointly by employer and employee in accordance with the following premiums set by the social partners:

- by the employer: 0.1% of the gross monthly salary, including holiday allowance;
- by the employee: 0.1% of the gross monthly salary, including holiday allowance. The employee's premium is temporarily set at 0%.

For information about the schemes and provisions, see www.sfpk.nl.

2. Loopbaanfonds scheme (Career Fund)

Employers and employees - with the exception of dancers, to whom the Omscholing Dansers Nederland scheme applies - are obliged to participate in, and are eligible for the provisions of the Career Fund of the Sociaal Fonds Podiumkunsten.

The contribution to the scheme is paid only by employers in accordance with the premium set by the social partners. The premium is set at 0.4% of the gross monthly salary, including holiday allowance.

For employers in the dance sector the premium is temporarily set at 0%.

For information about this scheme, see www.sfpk.nl.

Article 54

Trainees and traineeship fee

1. Students who carry out activities for the employer as part of their studies or course receive a traineeship fee of 350 euros gross per month in the case of five full trainee days per week. A pro rata fee applies to a part-time traineeship. The traineeship fee is exclusive of any allowance for students' travel and accommodation costs, on agreement with the institution.
2. Trainees must be supernumerary to the existing company, so that there is no displacement of employees. If the trainee is a student at a dance academy, the standard traineeship contract included in this CAO is used.

3. Further agreements about the content of the traineeship, supervision, and allowances and insurances are set out in a written traineeship contract signed by the school, the employer and the trainee, in compliance with the provisions included in the Traineeship Policy appendix to this CAO.

Article 55 Agency staff

Employers may only enter into contracts with certified agencies that are included in the Stichting Normering Arbeid register (see www.normeringarbeid.nl).

Article 56 Social Commission for Drama and Dance

In order to promote correct and clear interpretation and application of this CAO, the social partners Kunstenbond and NAPK are founding a Social Commission CAO for Drama and Dance. Further provisions regarding the tasks of this Commission, as well as its composition and the procedures to be followed by the Commission are included in the Social Commission CAO for Drama and Dance appendix to this CAO.

Appendix 2D Appointment of combi-officers

Article 1 Definition

Combination officers or combi-officers are employees who are appointed in whole or in part on the basis of the Impuls Brede Scholen covenant, and who carry out activities in education alongside their theatre activities. The terms combi-post and combination post are synonymous.

Article 2 Commencing employment

1. In addition to the obligatory content of the written contract of employment, the details concerning name, address and registered office of the employer, the place(s) where the work is carried out and the job(s) and standard job(s) of the borrowing educational institute must be stated.
2. On commencement of the contract of employment, the employer and the combi-officer make agreements about the allocation of tasks and hours, resulting in a suitable pattern of work.

Article 3 Exclusion from CAO provisions

1. Insofar as it concerns the activities outside the employer's organisation, the CAO provisions relevant to the borrowing institute will apply instead of the provisions from the CAO for Drama and Dance, as far as allowances, working hours and rest periods are concerned.
If the CAO of the borrowing institute does not offer a suitable alternative, or if the alternative cannot be implemented reasonably and practically, then the provisions of this CAO will remain fully applicable throughout the whole period of employment.
2. The employer and the combi-officer may submit CAO Articles to the Social Commission for Drama and Dance for exemption, either jointly or separately.

Article 4 Termination of the contract of employment

A termination of or amendment to the subsidy or the subsidy conditions, on the basis of the Impuls Brede Scholen covenant, resulting in the lapse of the combination post, may form a reason to terminate the contract of employment.

Article 5 Job classification

Employees who are appointed in whole or in part as a combi-officer are classified in accordance with the activities they carry out within the employer's organisation.

Article 6 Tasks

Besides the usual performance and appraisal interviews, there is an annual meeting between the employer, the borrowing institute and the employee about the arrangement of the tasks. At this meeting, parties make agreements about the following matters at least:

- nature and scope of educational tasks;
- nature and scope of extracurricular tasks;
- availability and work schedule;
- arrangement of holiday leave;
- work discussions.

Explanation

This model form can be used freely as a guide. Employers can draw up their own form and use this model form as a checklist. The form includes all the elements that the social partners think useful for a constructive discussion of the employee's performance. In order to conduct a performance interview, the manager enters the result areas and result criteria of the employee's job description into the form, which will then form the basis for the performance interview. The manager may add a further criterion that is relevant to the specific execution of the job by the employee. The manager and employee may also use this form for making agreements about the employee's long-term employability and the accrual and/or allocation of the career budget.

Explanation of the appraisal system

Appraisal criteria

This model form can be used freely as a guide. Employers can draw up their own form and use this model form as a checklist. The form includes all the elements that the social partners think useful for a constructive appraisal of the employee's performance. In order to make an appraisal, the manager enters the result areas and result criteria of the employee's job description into the form. The appraiser will base his appraisal on the criteria associated with the job of the employee to be appraised. The manager may add a further appraisal criterion that is relevant to the specific execution of the job.

Weighting of appraisal criteria

This model of an appraisal system provides a simple, clear guide in which all the criteria to be appraised have an equal weighting. In practice, however, this may be different, and it is up to the employer to determine his own policy. The model includes a scoring system that the manager uses to appraise performance by giving points (0-3) that correspond to a valuation (poor, fair, good, excellent).

Appendix 5 Accommodation expenses

General

These regulations cover an allowance for accommodation expenses incurred by performing artists and performance-related staff in carrying out activities requested by the employer outside the company location, either in the Netherlands or abroad.

The amounts below are paid out as a fixed allowance – irrespective of the scope of the contract of employment -, unless agreed with the employee participation body that the allowance is to be paid - up to the maximum of the amounts below - on the basis of declaration or that certain allowances are to be compensated in kind (in whole or in part). The amounts are indexed annually on 1 March by the average percentage of the Consumer Price Index (hotels, cafés, restaurants) of the CBS ('Jaarmutatie CPI afgeleid') from January to December of the previous year, up to the maximum of the exemptions specified in the 'Handboek Loonheffingen' published by the tax authorities.

Article 1 Explanation accommodation expenses for the Netherlands and Dutch-speaking Belgium

Breakfast allowance:

This allowance is only paid in the case of an overnight stay, whereby breakfast is not included in the accommodation bill paid by the employer or provided by the employer.

Incidental expenses:

This allowance is paid in the case of all activities carried out outside the company location.

Lunch allowance:

This allowance is paid on leaving the company location before 12.00.

Dinner allowance:

This allowance is paid on leaving the company location before 17.00 and returning to the company location after 19.30 or spending the night elsewhere.

Evening allowance for technicians:

This allowance is paid to technicians in the case of evening activities carried out after 22.00 outside the company location.

Article 2 Explanation accommodation expenses for abroad

The amounts are paid out on a daily basis during travelling and staying abroad, unless the allowances are included in the accommodation arranged and paid for by the employer or provided by the performance location, or in other situations where it has been agreed with the employee participation body to pay certain allowances in kind (in whole or in part).

Article 3 Schedule of amounts of allowances of accommodation expenses

Accommodation expenses Amounts in euros	As of March 1 2019

Appendix 6 Regulations for study facilities

General

Insofar as appropriate within the regulations of the Loopbaanfonds, under the Sociaal Fonds Podiumkunsten, employers and employees can request financial support from this fund for the implementation of the provisions below.

Article 1 Scope

These regulations are applicable to all employees covered by this CAO, except dancers, as the Omscholing Dansers Nederland scheme is applicable to this professional group.

Article 2 Financing

1. a. The costs of a course of study required by the employer and deemed necessary by the employer for carrying out a job are paid in full by the employer.
- b. In the case of a course of study that is in the interests of the work and/or arises from the job or an expected job, 50% of the costs will be paid by the employer, if the course of study is followed with the permission of the employer. In special cases, the employer's contribution can be set at 75%.
2. If the course of study as referred to in sections 1a and 1b takes place outside the employee's town of residence or the company location, the travelling expenses are reimbursed in accordance with the company's usual regulations.
3. The 'costs of a course of study' as referred to in sections 1 and 2 are defined as follows:
 - necessarily incurred course and tuition fees;
 - examination and diploma costs;
 - costs of acquiring set study material.
4. If the employer does not give permission as referred to in section 1b, the employee concerned will be notified of this in writing, including reasons.
5. If the employee terminates his employment with the employer within a specified period after the completion of the study, the employee must refund the expenses incurred by the employer to the employer. The length of this period is determined by the employer in consultation with the employee before the commencement of the study.

Article 3 Study leave

1. Study leave may be granted if the lessons are held during normal working hours.
2. Lessons given outside normal working hours are not compensated in working hours.
3. Days off may be granted for examinations.

Appendix 7A Trainee policy

Using trainees in performing arts productions serves several purposes.

On the one hand, it is necessary for students to put what they have learned in their training into practice. The trainee placement is therefore part of the educational curriculum. Employers take social responsibility in supervising and supporting students in a practical trainee placement. On the other hand, using trainees gives employers the opportunity to get to know the new professionals and discover their talents. The primary goal of traineeships is to learn in practice on the basis of learning goals set by the student or the educational institute. This must be the principle behind recruiting and deploying trainees. Trainees are not employees and must be supernumerary.

Besides these positive aspects for students, employers and training institutes, the social partners point out that frequent use of trainees can sometimes lead to unwanted situations. This can happen if trainees are used as cheap labour in the place of regular employees and, in particular, of recently graduated professionals. The latter group can therefore experience difficulty in gaining the necessary experience and finding sufficient work (also in the long term). The excessive use of trainees can also lead to a lower quality of supervision by the organisation, which is undesirable from an educational point of view. The employer must ensure sufficient time, space and professional capacity for supervising and training the trainee.

Employers are therefore obliged to use and continue to use recent graduates and regular employees in a balanced proportion to trainees. Employers are also obliged, in cooperation with the educational institutes, to ensure high-quality supervision and proper preconditions in the trainee agreement. See the model trainee placement agreement in this CAO.

Appendix 7B Model trainee placement agreement for student dancers and actors

3rd party to the contract, fellow signatory : (trainee)

pupil at the above training facility, hereafter referred to as the trainee

Declare that they have made the following agreement:

The trainee will be attached to the company for ... (period).

The company offers the trainee the following:

- only for dance trainees: a daily training or warming-up;
- the opportunity to follow rehearsals and rehearse repertoire, depending on the decision of the artistic director as 1st, 2nd or emergency cast;
- the opportunity to obtain performance experience in the theatre performances and presentations produced by the company, depending on the decision of the artistic director;
- the opportunity to follow the programme of the training facility during company days off;
- the opportunity to take auditions with other companies;
- the opportunity to attend the official presentation of diplomas of the training facility;
- the trainee receives daily allowances on performance days in accordance with the accommodation expenses allowance in this CAO and a professional expense allowance in accordance with the compensatory allowance scheme of the employer;
- travelling expenses incurred as part of the trainee placement at the request of the company will be reimbursed by the company, insofar as necessary to supplement any student discount on public transport.

The trainee agrees with the company and the training facility that:

- he will be available on a full-time basis to follow lessons, rehearsals and the presentation (and attendance) of performances in accordance with the applicable company schedule;
- he will not perform any work for third parties outside the company during the period of the contract without the express written permission of the company;
- he will immediately notify the company in the event of absence, illness, injury or any other impediments which may arise;
- he will make an appointment with his supervisor from the training facility every two months;
- he will make use of public transport discount options as far as possible for travelling expenses incurred as part of the trainee placement at the request of the company. Where this is not possible, the travelling expenses will be reimbursed by the company.

The training facility agrees with the company and the trainee that:

- it will provide third party insurance for the trainee by the training facility;
- it will provide supervision for the trainee by a teacher on the staff during the placement period;
- it will maintain contact with the company and the trainee during the placement period.

This agreement can be prematurely terminated by any of the parties for pressing reasons provided a period of notice of two months is observed.

The (standing) rules of the company are applicable to this trainee placement agreement.

Appendix 8A Rules of implementation for reimbursing employees' deductible for healthcare costs

1. General

These regulations cover the reimbursement of the legal deductible of employees who incur healthcare costs as a result of incapacity for work caused by working for the employer. The legal deductible is defined as the annual amount set by the government as the obligatory deductible for healthcare costs.

2. Conditions of reimbursement

1. Reimbursement of the legal deductible will apply only to employees who work for the employer on the basis of a contract of employment and are thus covered by the CAO.
2. Reimbursement will be made only for the healthcare costs that come under the remaining legal deductible in a certain year and which are the direct result of an industrial accident that occurred during the execution of work in employment with the employer. If such an accident occurs, the employee must notify the employer of this as soon as possible. Costs within the legal deductible resulting from injuries or complaints arising in free time or during work for third parties will not be reimbursed.
3. If in a certain year the deductible has been paid because of healthcare costs that do not come under the aforementioned declarable costs, costs can no longer be declared on the basis of this reimbursement scheme if an industrial accident should occur later in the same year.

3. Method of declaration

Declarations of the legal deductible that meet the conditions above will be dealt with at least once a year. In principle, the declarations concern the previous calendar year. If, by January, an employee has not yet received a final decision on the amount of the legal deductible (or remaining deductible) that has been paid, the costs concerned must be declared in January of the following year, unless the employer makes other arrangements for this.

Declaring costs is the individual responsibility of every employee. The legal deductible can be declared annually in January or at another time set by the employer, on the basis of a completed application form. The form must be accompanied by photocopies of invoices and a specification from the healthcare insurer of the legal deductible (or remaining legal deductible). Employees must submit the application form and the required enclosures to the employer before the set deadline. Applications will be dealt with in confidence.

4. Assessment committee

The application will only be assessed by a committee comprising at least two people that has been appointed for this purpose by the employer. The tasks of this committee are to assess the applications, to determine the reimbursement amounts and to ensure payment of the reimbursement amounts. The committee will deal with all the details concerning the applications and medical treatment in strict confidentiality. The committee will announce its decisions to the applicants in writing by the month of May at the latest. Correspondence about the committee's decisions may not be entered into.

Method of payment

Approved applications will be transferred by the employer as a regular declaration to the bank account of the employee concerned.

Appendix 8B Model declaration form for reimbursement of the deductible for healthcare costs

Explanation

This model form can be used freely as a guide. Employers can draw up their own form and use this model form as a checklist.

The undersigned requests the reimbursement of the following medical costs:

Appendix 9 Procedures for the Social Commission CAO for Drama and Dance

Article 1 Tasks, composition and secretary of the Commission

1. In order to promote correct and clear interpretation and application of this CAO, the social partners Kunstenbond and NAPK are founding a Social Commission CAO for Drama and Dance (hereinafter the Commission). The Commission comprises four members and four deputy members, of which two members and two deputy members are appointed by NAPK and two members and two deputy members by Kunstenbond. The Commission elects a chair from it ranks, preferably in such a way that this post is occupied in turn by each of the social partners. If required, the Commission can be temporarily expanded by an independent chair.
2. The tasks of the Social Commission are:
 - a. Giving a viewpoint/decision or advice to an employer/employers, an employee/employees, social partners or other parties concerned regarding the definition and/or application of the provisions in this CAO;
 - b. At the request of an employer of employers, dealing with requests for exemption from provisions in this CAO, see Article 4 of this Appendix;
 - c. Giving weighty advice to employer(s) or employee(s) in the case of disputes about the definition and/or application of this CAO. At the request of parties concerned the advice may be considered as binding.
3. The secretary of the Commission is located at NAPK, e-mail info@napk.nl.

Article 2 Procedure for submitting an appeal

1. A request for a viewpoint/decision, exemption or (binding) advice about the interpretation and/or application of this CAO may be submitted by employers, employees, CAO parties and other parties concerned at any time by e-mail to the secretary of the Commission, via info@napk.nl;
2. A request as referred to in section 1 will only be dealt with after the request has been submitted with reasons in writing via e-mail. A request for advice must state:
 - full name and address of the opposite party/parties;
 - which Article(s) of the CAO pertain to the request;
 - the facts and circumstances that have led to the dispute, and the conclusion that should be drawn from this in the opinion of the claimant;
 - signature of the claimant and date.
3. The secretary will send the appeal and any appendices within 14 days of receipt to the members and deputy members of the Commission, and - in the case of a dispute - also to the opposite party.
4. The opposite party is given the opportunity to submit a written defence to the Commission by sending it to the secretary, within 21 days of the secretary sending the appeal and any appendices. The secretary immediately sends on the written defence and any appendices to the Commission.
5. The secretary will send a copy of the written defence within 14 days of receipt to the members and deputy members of the Commission, and to the claimant.

Article 3 Procedure for dealing with an appeal

1. The period during the date of the deadline for submitting the written defence and the date it will be dealt with by the Commission will be at least 21 days.
2. The Commission will deal with the case preferably within two months, but at the latest within four months of submission of the appeal by the secretary. Exemption may be granted under restrictions; conditions and/or regulations may be applied.

3. If the Commission sees a reason to do so on the grounds of the appeal and/or written defence, it can request parties for additional written reactions and/or information. In each case, the Commission sets the deadline for receipt of these documents by the secretary. If further reactions and/or information are requested, the case will be dealt with by the Commission preferably within four months, but at the latest within six months of the appeal being submitted to the secretary.
4. If the Commission sees a reason to do so, it can summon parties, witnesses or experts to give further information. Such a summons takes place at least 14 days before the case is dealt with.
5. The Commission takes a decision by majority vote and determines its binding advice outside the presence of parties to the dispute.
6. The Commission determines what costs are to be charged to which party. If the costs are charged to the employee (in whole or in part), the employer is entitled to deduct this sum from the salary owed to the employee by the employer, in compliance with the legal provisions and with the obligation to pay the amount owed to the Commission within one week of the deduction. The parties' costs do not include the costs of any legal aid.
7. The advice is drawn up in writing, giving reasons. A copy of the advice signed by the chair and the secretary is sent to each of the parties and to all members and deputy members of the Commission within the set term (four or six months).
8. Due to the importance of the advice for the CAO and for collective bargaining, the Commission may decide to send the anonymised advice to the Social Partners. Parties to the dispute will be notified of this.

Article 4

Exemption regulations

1. At the request of the employer(s) covered by the scope of this CAO, the Committee can grant exemption from the application of the CAO or its provisions. CAO parties hereby implement the recommendation of the Stichting van de Arbeid to preferably regulate the exemption from a sector CAO independently and transparently.
2. A request for exemption from the application of the CAO or its provisions must be submitted in writing, giving reasons, to the Committee secretary by e-mail info@napk.nl. The Committee is authorised to decide on an exemption request on behalf of CAO parties.
3. A request for exemption must contain at least the following:
 - full name and address of the applicant(s);
 - the CAO provision(s) to which the request pertains;
 - reasons for the request;
 - signature(s) of applicant(s) and date.
4. Exemption from this CAO or its provisions may be granted if the situation of the applicant(s) differs from the usual situation in the sector or one of its segments (temporarily or permanently) to such an extent that the employer(s) cannot reasonably be required to fully apply the CAO or its provisions.
5. On request, the applicant will provide details and documents, or additional details and documents necessary for assessing the request, within the stipulated term. A request is dealt with when the information provided is sufficient for assessing the request.
6. Within two months of the date of receipt of the complete dossier of the request for exemption, the Committee will give a decision in writing, with reasons. If necessary, the decision term of two months may be extended by a maximum of one month.
7. The Committee secretary will send the written decision to the applicant as soon as possible.

8. Exemption will be granted for the duration of the CAO at the most and may be granted with restrictions; i.e. conditions and/or regulations may be attached to the exemption. If a new CAO is applicable, applicants may submit a new request for exemption, if they wish.

Article 5Procedural costs

NAPK and Kunstenbond will make further agreements about the costs of the Commission and the secretary regarding the execution of the Commission's tasks.
